San Diego Zoo: Hoof your way to the San Diego Zoo where the Zoo's largest, most complex exhibit made its mammoth debut last Spring. Elephant Odyssey combines the roaring good time of a zoo with the immersion experience of a museum by recreating California 12,000 years ago: an untamed landscape of large predators and pachyderms. The 7.5-acre exhibit features living relatives, such as elephants, lions and California condors, of animal species that dotted the Southern California landscape during the Pleistocene. This one-of-a-kind, $45 million exhibit will feature naturalistic animal habitats, life-size replicas of prehistoric animals including mammoths and a children's playground with a fossil dig. It is a first of its kind experience, providing an entertaining and educational odyssey sure to please guests of all ages.

Passport to Balboa Park, San Diego's best cultural value, offers visitors the chance to experience 14 museums in the Park, with savings of more than 50% and the convenience of a one-time purchase. The regular Passport is valid for seven consecutive days, and includes one admission to each of the 14 attractions. Balboa Park is the nation's largest urban cultural park. There are nearly 1,200 acres in Balboa Park, which includes the San Diego Zoo. Famous gardens include the historic 1915 Botanical Building, the internationally award-winning Inez Grant Parker Memorial Rose Garden, a butterfly grotto and more. The famous architecture used for the 1915-1916 Panama-California Exposition is a combination of Spanish Colonial Revival and Spanish Baroque. <http://www.balboapark.org/info/passport.php>
